

No simple stories: Jewish-Lithuanian relations between coexistence and violence

Sunday February 6th (3pm-6.30pm) - Garden Room, UCL, London WC1E 6BT

Monday February 7th (10am-4pm) - The Warburg Institute, Woburn Square, London WC1H 0AB

CONFERENCE PROGRAMME

Sunday, February 6, 2011

Venue: Garden Room, Wilkins Building, UCL, Gower Street, London WC1E 6BT

3pm-4.30 pm: Panel One

Chair: Darius Staliūnas

François Guesnet (UCL): Longue durée, histoire événementielle, and Jewish-non-Jewish coexistence in Eastern Europe

Werner Bergmann (Zentrum für Antisemitismusforschung, Technische Universität Berlin): Anti-Jewish Violence in Nineteenth and Twentieth Century Europe: Some Theoretical Considerations

Heinz-Dietrich Löwe (Heidelberg University): The study of pogroms: history, narratives, comparisons

4.30pm-5pm: Refreshment break

5pm-6.30pm: Panel Two

Chair: François Guesnet

Klaus Richter (Zentrum für Antisemitismusforschung, Technische Universität Berlin): Lithuanians and Jews. National awakening and economic policies before the first World War

Darius Staliūnas (Lithuanian Institute of History, Vilnius): Lithuania during the revolution of 1905: a region without ethnic violence?

Motti Zalkin (Ben-Gurion University): Sharunas, prince of Dainava in a Hebrew gown: The encounter of local Jews with Lithuanian culture in interwar Lithuania

Monday, February 7, 2011

Venue: Seminar Room, The Warburg Institute, Woburn Square, London WC1H 0AB

10.15am-12noon: Panel Three

Chair: François Guesnet

Antony Polonsky (Brandeis University): Statehood and minority protection between the World Wars: Lithuania in the Central Eastern European context

Šarūnas Liekis (Vilnius University): The scope of Jewish autonomy in independent Lithuania

Vladas Sirutavičius (Lithuanian Institute of History, Vilnius): Antisemitism in interwar Lithuania

1.30 pm - 3 pm: Panel Four

Chair: Antony Polonsky

Joachim Tauber (Institut für Geschichte und Kultur der Deutschen in Nordosteuropa, University of Hamburg): Hitler, Stalin, and Antisemitism in Lithuania, 1939-1941

Christoph Dieckmann (Keele University): Lithuanian cooperation with the German Occupier. Structures, Processes, Effects, 1941-44

Saulius Suziedelis (Professor Emeritus of History, Millersville University of Pennsylvania): Memories of blood: examining Lithuanian responses to the Holocaust

3 pm - 3.20 pm: Refreshment break

3.20 pm - 4 pm: Concluding discussion

Chair: François Guesnet, Darius Staliūnas

The Institute of Jewish Studies gratefully acknowledges the support of the Rothschild Foundation Europe, the Embassy of the Republic of Lithuania in London and the Foreign Ministry of Lithuania.